

May 6, 2010

Expensify Featured in Intuit App Center Promotion to Help Businesses Organize Their Expenses

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6 /PRNewswire/ -- Expensify announced it has been picked by the Intuit Partner Platform to help business owners track and manage their expenses from one spot as part of the Intuit App Center's "Get Organized. Get Rewarded" promotion." The campaign is focused on helping small businesses be more successful by using apps that reduce paper and improve office organization.

Expensify helps everyone from small businesses down to solopreneurs cut out busywork and get their expenses organized. Expensify does this by collecting all credit card, cash, mileage and time expenses into one web-accessible location. Employees and road-warriors alike can capture their paper receipts using mobile apps for the BlackBerry, iPhone, Android or the Palm Pre, and log cash expenses as they are incurred.

"The average expense report takes over an hour and generates a stack of paperwork" says David Barrett, CEO and founder of Expensify. "Expensify takes only a fraction of the time, and leaves your pockets empty of crumpled receipts."

All of the uploaded receipts and expenses are organized for easy viewing directly on the iPhone or from the Expensify website. Employees can sign in, sort and filter all of their expenses, and create an expense report in minutes. The approving manager can then check the report online, approve it and reimburse it all from the same screen. Integration with QuickBooks® makes it easy to share reimbursed reports with a bookkeeper and seamlessly export categorized expenses back in to QuickBooks to maintain an accurate ledger.

Expensify acts as a single, centralized location for organizing all business expenses and employee spending. And now, use Expensify for free! Sign up your entire company for Expensify through the Intuit App Center and keep using it for six months. If you do, Intuit will credit you for the first three months of the service.

To learn more about the "Get Organized. Get Rewarded." promotion click here.

About Expensify

Expensify does "expense reports that don't suck." If you're sick of the painful expense reporting process, Expensify is the fastest and easiest way to manage your business expenses. Expensify imports expenses and receipts using the majority of U.S. smartphones, and from many U.S. banks, and 94% of U.S. credit cards. Create your entire expense report online and submit through email and get reimbursed fast, directly to your checking account. With free credit card import, rich mobile apps, QuickBooks export and integrated direct deposit, Expensify is the clear choice for small business expense reporting. Founded in 2008 with an alpha product launch at TechCrunch50 that year, Expensify is headquartered in San Francisco and backed by Hillsven Capital, Baseline Ventures and Travis Kalanick. Expensify was named: a "2010 Hot Startup to Watch" by Robert Scoble; a "Global 250 Innovator and Disruptor" by AlwaysOn; and was the "DemoPit 2nd Place Winner" at TechCrunch50 in 2008. For more information and a press kit, check out www.expensify.com/content/press/press-kit.

Intuit, the Intuit logo, and QuickBooks, among others, are registered trademarks and/or registered service marks of Intuit Inc. in the United States and other countries. For free trials and promotions, please see the websites listed above for the terms, conditions, and restrictions related to such offers.

SOURCE Intuit Inc.