Intuit Tax Products Reinstated to Minnesota's Approved Vendor List

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Intuit Inc. (Nasdaq: INTU) is pleased to announce that the Minnesota Department of Revenue has reinstated Intuit's consumer and professional tax products to its approved vendor list.

In a statement posted today to its web site, the Minnesota Department of Revenue announced that "Intuit has fixed the reported errors and taxpayers can continue to use Intuit products."

"We are very pleased that the Minnesota Department of Revenue has restored Intuit's TurboTax, ProSeries, Intuit Tax Online and Lacerte products to its approved vendor list," said Bob Meighan, vice president at Intuit. "We appreciate the state's collaboration and want to reassure customers they can file with confidence.

"Intuit released fixes to resolve known issues affecting its consumer and professional tax products in the state of Minnesota last week and has communicated directly with affected customers who filed returns with the state of Minnesota. The company's online products were automatically updated; desktop users will be prompted to update their software.

"Intuit is continuing to work closely with the Minnesota State Department of Revenue to fully resolve any remaining impact to customers' returns.

"The company is also issuing refunds to its affected individual Minnesota state TurboTax customers for the full amount of their tax preparation fees."
