Intuit Small Business Big Game Announces Semi-finalists

Twenty Small Businesses Keep Their Drive Alive to Score Ad in Football's Biggest Game

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- From healthy treats to delicious sweets and friends on a farm to products that charm; the Intuit Small Business Big Game 20 semi-finalists represent the spirit and diversity of today's American small businesses.

From almost 15,000 entries, Intuit Inc. (Nasdaq: INTU) has selected the 20 small businesses that will stay in the game and play for the ultimate prize – a 30-second custom television advertisement that will air during football's biggest game on Feb. 2, 2014. In the initial rounds of the program these business owners told their stories, rallied their fans and shared their passion for why they deserve the opportunity of a lifetime. Their efforts paid off as they now move to the final rounds of the competition.

“We had the challenging task of narrowing the playing field from thousands of incredible, deserving small businesses to 20,” said Ken Wach, vice president of marketing, Intuit Small Business Group. “In the end, these semi-finalists will help put all small businesses on a national stage and demonstrate their contributions to our economy with their amazing stories.”
