Intuit Announces Small Business United Grant Competition Winners

Ioana Sherman's Music School Strikes the Right Chord: Wins $25,000 Grant to Grow Business

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Intuit Inc.:

Summary: Ioana Sherman of Chapel Hill, N.C., wins the $25,000 grand prize in Intuit's Small Business United Grant Competition. Four runners-up each win a $10,000 business grant. All winners also receive $2,500 in Intuit products and services.

Ioana Sherman always had a passion for music. As a 10-year-old, she begged her mom for a clarinet so she could join the school band. Now, 19 years later, she plans to transform a home into a music school for children using a $25,000 grant as the grand prize winner of Intuit Inc.'s Small Business United Grant Competition. Ioana, whose name is pronounced "E-wanna," will also receive $2,500 in Intuit products and services, such as the best-selling QuickBooks(R) financial software, to help her fulfill her dream of sharing her gift of music.

Born in Bucharest, Romania, and immigrating to the United States with her parents at the age of three, Ioana's family had no money for music lessons. But somehow, her family got her that clarinet. Later, a family friend donated a piano. With her grandmother's encouragement, she taught herself to play and a career was born, even if she didn't know it at the time

In college, Ioana taught music to earn money for tuition while earning her bachelor's and master's degrees in music education and musicology. After graduation, she continued giving lessons while looking for that "real job" when she made a discovery.

"I finally realized I was living my passion and I had a real job this whole time," Ioana says. Combining her passion with her business savvy, she opened Ioana's Music Lessons in Chapel Hill, N.C. "With more than a decade of experience, I'm ready to move forward and create a musical haven for children and adults alike."

Ioana's story was one of the nearly 2,000 submitted for the Small Business United Grant Competition. She was among 50 finalists who each received a $5,000 grant and were invited to create videos telling their personal business stories. Judges selected the grand prize and runner-up winners based on quality, creativity and public ratings.

Four runner-up winners will each receive a $10,000 business grant, plus $2,500 in Intuit products and services to support their growing businesses. They include:

- Melissa Baswell, Mountains of the Moon (Chicago): a sustainable design and apparel organization aimed at creating chic, high-quality eco-friendly clothing.

- Jana Chang, Haute Fan Couture (St. Augustine, Ga.): a designer of custom created "gameday" dresses, made to order in one's favorite sport team's colors.
- Dina DiNucci, Park Place Coffee and Crepes (Gresham, Ore.): a coffee and crepe restaurant that's all about community.
- Cathy Henry, Peter Henry, and Josh Henry, J-Dig Cards (Dallas): a greeting card manufacturer whose cards combine pop culture, sharp humor and unpredictable word plays that appeal to both sexes and all age groups.

"The Small Business United Grant Competition brought the small business community together to share stories, give and receive advice, and inspire each other," said Kiran Patel, executive vice president and general manager of Intuit's small business group. "Ioana's passion, talent, and hard work sets a great example for the rest of the small business community. She's a classic example of the American dream. We congratulate her and thank all of the businesses who shared their stories."

The competition is part of Intuit's Small Business United initiative, launched earlier this year to give America's 27 million small businesses a boost. More than 1 million people have visited the Small Business United Web site to seek advice from their peers and to take advantage of the campaign's other offerings, which include free Intuit products, services and resources.
